

“Art in Giving’s Corporate Art Loan Program was the perfect solution for our recent lobby remodel at Westbrook Corporate Center, IL. We particularly enjoyed working with Eliane Markoff, who introduced us to talented local artists and coordinated the seamless delivery and installation of our chosen pieces. Most importantly, we are grateful for the opportunity to support Art in Giving and the Rachel Molly Markoff Foundation in its mission to fund pediatric cancer research.”

HOW DOES IT WORK

- The gallery combines the creativity and generosity of over 50 prominent and emerging artists who donate 50% of the proceeds of their art to fund pediatric cancer research.
- Clients buy or lease art for their buildings and/or purchase gift certificates for their employees, board members, guest speakers, or for personal gifts. Funds targeted are business expenses allocated for facility management and don't compete with other philanthropic causes.
- Through its Shared Revenue Model Art in Giving partners with other non-profits to provide a new source of funding for both charities.

OUR GRANTS

To date, the Rachel Molly Markoff Foundation d/b/a Art in Giving has donated $1.2 million to renowned cancer researchers focused on childhood cancer and immunology.

The Rachel Molly Markoff Foundation d/b/a Art in Giving is a 501(c)(3) public charity.

“This is a cause that everybody can identify with. Art in Giving is so amazing. It brings artists together on one side of the table and consumers who need artwork on the other side. And if those two can bridge together and actually generate revenue that can be used for much needed research, what's better than that? Buy art and save lives.”

Robert K. Coughlin
President and CEO of MassBio Council
